

ARRIVAL OF CONGRESSMEN.

Irrigation Committee Now in Los Angeles.

Cordial Reception Accorded All Along the Line.

Distinguished Friends of the Reclamation Policy.

After three days in California and after having traversed in and out through 400 miles of the southern portion of the State, the Congressional Irrigation Committee, escorted by Gov. Pardee and a delegation of prominent Californians, arrived in Los Angeles yesterday afternoon at 6:45 o'clock on the special train of five Pullman coaches furnished by the Southern Pacific.

"Gentlemen," said the California delegation as the big compound locomotive let out an ear-splitting screech, just the other side of Naud Junction, "you have seen the barrenness of our outlying arid lands; you have seen the productivity of these same tracts when brought under irrigation and intelligent cultivation. We have shown you the goods, solid fourteen car settings; we now have the pleasure of offering you the opportunity of viewing the pearl of great price, our own queen city of Los Angeles."

Leaving the train, the Congressional party went to the Van Nuys, where they will remain while in the city. This morning at 8:30 o'clock the visitors will gather at the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce, and will be driven about the city in automobiles, returning in time to lunch at 12:30 at the Jonathan Club, as the guests of the chamber.

After luncheon and until time to leave for San Francisco at 5:30 o'clock over the Southern Pacific, as no formal program has been fixed upon, it is probable that they will be left to see the business portion of the city under guidance of committees from the Chamber of Commerce during the short time remaining.

WHO'S WHO? The Congressional party is of mixed political complexion, united in the earnest and honest investigation of a subject and of conditions of vast importance to the people of the United States as a whole, and to the people of the West in particular. It is made up of three distinguished Senators, four Congressmen, one able and talented attorney, one representative of the Department of Agriculture, and one representative of the United States Geological Survey.

The name of Senator F. T. Dubois of Idaho is known all over the country. He has recently gained a new fame for himself through his aggressive fight against the Mormon Church in the Smoot case. He is an ardent friend of the irrigation and reclamation service. When it comes to politics he banks with the Democrats.

Senator Du Bois is one of the handiest members of the party, and so far during the trip has won his way by a taking smile, and is accused by his companions of saving his voice to disturb the peace of Congress.

Senator Francis G. Newlands of Nevada is also a Democrat, and carries the distinction of having started the malice of the Southwest this summer by an example of quite the very latest thing in stylish knicker. The garment which made him a marked man on the trip, is a khaki creation cut along the most modish lines of an English walking suit. It is said that it carried the rude cowboys of Texas quite out of their saddles and that they rode after the train with drawn six shooters and rancorous demands to know the names of the tailor, Senator Newlands denies that he has any intention of introducing a bill to adopt the long tailed khaki garb for the army.

As a member of the House of Representatives, Senator Newlands was one of the most active framers of the Reclamation Act. Coming from the most arid State in the Union, he is deeply interested in the subject of irrigation. He is making this trip at great personal inconvenience, as he is shortly to join the Taft commission in its expedition to the Philippine Islands.

He and his wife encountered a colony of transplanted Pennsylvanians and old friends at Riverside yesterday, and they nearly caused him to miss his train in their endeavors to make him promise to come out where he will be able to say "out West," all the time.

Congressman W. L. Jones of Washington, doesn't need to be coached on reclamation work. He comes from the Yakima Valley of Washington, one of the most perfectly irrigated sections in the United States. He is a practical irrigator himself, owning and operating a large fruit ranch, and has done a large and vigorous work for national irrigation. He is also a member of the River and Harbor Committee of the House, and will find plenty of work cut out for him at San Francisco.

Judge J. I. Parker of Washington, D. C., chief of the Division of Lands and Railroads, Department of the Interior, is the confidential adviser of the Secretary of the Interior in all matters relating to the work of the Reclamation Service in establishment, regulation, contracts, rights of way, and purchase of reservoir sites. It is believed that his visit to the West will be invaluable and will be productive of much good.

Prof. Elwood Mead of Washington, chief of irrigation investigations, Department of Agriculture, is said to be one of the best-informed men in the United States on the subject of irrigation and especially in its practical application to soil and crops.

C. G. Rowley of Jackson, Mich., is chairman of the Committee of Public Lands and Irrigation of the National Association of Manufacturers, an Agricultural Implements and Vehicles, the members of which represent an investing capital of $400,000,000, and employ more than 150,000 men. This great organization is watching closely and encouraging in every way all irrigation and reclamation movements. One of its aims is to increase acreage for that means wider markets for their products.

Mr. Rowley is a warm personal advocate of irrigation and practices it himself upon his own soil, but thus far apparently without visible success. It is suggested that his field may be better adapted to alfalfa than to hair, but Mrs. Rowley takes anything but kindly to the suggestion.

The entire party is in charge of C. J. Blanchard of Washington, statistician of the United States Geological Survey. In the statistics of irrigation he is one of the best posted men in the business.

ON THE WAY. REDLANDS AND RIVERSIDE. When the members of the Committee on Irrigation and Reclamation of Arid Lands of the two houses of Congress climbed down from their Pullmans yesterday morning they found that the landscape had suffered a radical transformation. From the lower Imperial valley where irrigation, California sunshine and incomparable climate JUDGE J. I. PARKER, C. G. BLANCHARD, H. BROWN, CONGRESSMAN W. A. REEDER, C. G. ROWLEY, CONGRESSMAN W. L. JONES, CONGRESSMAN F. W. MONDELL, SENATOR F. G. NEWLANDS, SENATOR DU BOIS, CONGRESSMAN A. F. COOPER. Members of Congressional party photographed at Imperial.

down from their cars into the fresh early morning sunlight, and plunged into the attractive programme of a full and busy day.

The Board of Trade and the people of Redlands extended a hearty welcome. The Entertainment and Reception Committee met the party at the train and escorted them to the Casa Loma Hotel, which the proprietor, E. S. Graham, reopened especially for their reception.

Breakfast was served at the hotel at 8 o'clock, at the conclusion of which J. B. Lippincott introduced Henry L. Graham, chairman of the Board of Trade, who welcomed the visitors in the name of that body, and introduced them to the orange city, where they were entertained during the remainder of the day as the guests of the city and especially of the Chamber of Commerce. It is agreed that the Imperial valley, the largest number of settlers, and making the cost of the reclamation work to each as low as possible.

This can be attained, it is believed, by putting in extra wide headgates for the Laguna dam and running a canal entirely upon American soil, then connecting with the system of the Imperial company, furnishing the residents of that valley with all the water they need, diverting from the Laguna reservoir, cutting out their troublesome connection with the Colorado River.

The government could then make a pro rata or fixed nominal charge for the water so furnished. The Imperial Valley settlers would no longer be in danger from weak or imperfect headgates furnished by private enterprises, and the cost of water rights to all persons who come within the scope of the area reclaimed through the Laguna project would be very materially decreased.

It will readily be seen that if the 200,000 or so acres, which were intended originally to be reclaimed by the construction of the Laguna works, are to bear the burden of the $3,000,000 expended under that appropriation, the cost per acre would be very much greater than it would be if this $3,000,000 were spread over three or four times as many acres, which would bear the pro rata burden of the original outlay.

This would prove a boon not only to the settlers in the areas immediately tributary to the Laguna system, but to the water users of the Imperial canal zone as well.

LUCKY IMPERIAL FARMERS. COMMENTS OF VISITORS. "I consider the owners of land in the Imperial Valley among the luckiest farmers in the United States," says Hon. F. W. Mondell of Wyoming, chairman of the House Committee on Reclamation, after a day spent in viewing the wonderful results of irrigation in that field. "They are singularly blessed by nature and man. They have everything that a farmer could ask for, and themselves well to do. They have the soil, the climate, the water, and the location with railroad facilities for marketing their crops, and good and constant markets for their product close at hand."

"I do not know of any section of land in the United States so naturally adapted to perfect irrigation as the Imperial Valley. It is an eye-opener to all who visit it, and to those more than ordinarily stupid, a magnificent study. We have discovered through inquiry among the residents of the valley, who have from all parts of the United States, and even from the very coldest climates we have, that the heat of the climate, which has often been urged against this section, is not oppressive, nor does it seem to be enervating. It is a great country all around, and no doubt, has a magnificent future."

"A wonderfully productive country, with a bright future," was Senator Newlands' characterization of the Imperial Valley. "To note such marked success in farming, through the intelligent use of water, is extremely gratifying to one who has had irrigation and the reclamation of arid lands so close to his heart for many years. It is also satisfying to know that reclamation is a home builder, and to be assured that no great land monopolies can be built up here, for the provisions of the Reclamation Act specifically provide for that. So the settlers of the Imperial Valley do not need to fear that they are ever going to be crowded out of their possessions by the grabbing up of all the land in the valley by large syndicates."

"It is almost unbelievable to see such garden spots bedecking the face of the desert," said C. J. Rowley, another of the party who was greatly surprised by the revelations of the Imperial Valley. "The Congressional party is accompanied by Arthur Ruhl of New York, correspondent for Collier's, and H. J. Brown, Washington correspondent of the Portland Oregonian, and district engineer of Colorado River projects, and G. Griffith."

SUGGESTION FOR IMPERIAL. On account of the failure of the Imperial Canal Company to furnish proper and safe headgates at the headwaters of its canal system on the Colorado River, the residents of the valley, whose lands and crops have been imperiled from overflows and whose interests are at stake, are naturally anxious that active and effective measures be taken toward securing relief and immunity from this situation.

It is for this reason among others, that they have advocated the government ownership of the canal system, believing that such ownership would be for the best interests of all concerned. This suggestion, however, has the objection of possibly bringing up a controversy with the government of Mexico, through whose domain it is necessary to run the main canal.

In this connection a suggestion has been offered by one of the members of the party of the Congressional Irrigation Committee, which has met with much favor, and carries the endorsement of one of the members of the committee himself, a Congressman, who is an acknowledged authority on the subject of irrigation, and whose indefatigable efforts in behalf of the Reclamation Service have made him prominent in this work.

It is thought that this proposition in its operation would eliminate the objections inherent in government ownership of the Imperial canal project. It is agreed that inasmuch as the Laguna dam project has been passed by Congress, and it has been decided to expend on this work some $3,000,000, it behooves the government to spread the benefits to be derived from this undertaking over as large an irrigable area as possible, reclaiming the greatest possible acreage, and dividing the largest number of settlers, and making the cost of the reclamation work to each as low as possible.

THE WELCOMING ESCORT. The California contingent went much to the pleasure of the trip through the southern part of the State. The members of the Congressional party many times voiced their appreciation of the compliment of being received by such a large committee of representative men of the State, who traveled a great distance and took almost a week away from their business interests for the purpose of greeting the visitors and personally escorting them through the State. The information which the Californians were able to give them was very valuable, and it is not to be suspected that they allowed time to hang heavily upon the hands of anyone.

mate is just beginning to work wonders in the desert, they had been whistled while they slept into the heart of that region where the miracle has already been wrought, and where the already and beautiful product of that work, which they are engaged in investigating has blossomed into a rich and radiant perfection. They were in Redlands.

"There is no desert," exclaimed Hon. A. F. Cooper of Pennsylvania, as he inhaled the fragrant air. "The desert simply a term to denote Paradise with the water turned off," replied Hon. W. A. Reeder, of Kansas.

And then the whole party swung Mayor J. J. Sues, who delivered over the keys of the city. Mayor Sues wished the visitors especially to appreciate that they were to be given an object lesson in what irrigation had done for this western country. He told them that less than a score of years ago Redlands was but a barren, desert waste, worse, in fact, than the country through which they passed Saturday.

"It is indeed a pleasure for me to extend to you a most hearty welcome in behalf of Redlands," said Mayor Sues. "We have already been honored by the visits here of two of our most famous presidents, McKinley and Roosevelt, and we appreciate the opportunity of the party had been assigned to certain carriages beforehand, so that there was no confusion or delay in getting off. The owners of the carriages insisted on driving themselves, a compliment which was highly appreciated by the guests.

At 11 o'clock the excursionists were back on their train again, delighted with the beauty of the early morning drive, and expressing the highest appreciation of the whole-souled hospitality of the people of Redlands. At Riverside, which was reached at noon, the reception lived up to the reputation of that beautiful city. Members of the Chamber of Commerce met the special at Redlands and escorted both, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce. A dainty and elaborate luncheon was served at the Glenwood Tavern, under the direction of Manager Frank A. Miller, the menu being tastefully inscribed on porcelain cards. After the luncheon trolley and special electric cars were provided and the visitors were taken for a trip about the city, along Victoria and Harvard drives to the Indian School, returning in time to take the train at 4 o'clock in the afternoon for Los Angeles.

The time spent in Riverside will be remembered by the visitors as one of the very pleasant features of their excursion, and they were warmly thanked by their entertainers for the gracious manner in which they had been received.

The information which the Californians were able to give them was very valuable, and it is not to be suspected that they allowed time to hang heavily upon the hands of anyone.

It was a congenial and well-meet crowd from the tail lights and marker flags of the railroad, carrying the Imperial private car to the barber's den in the forward end of the buffet car. Everything ran smoothly and without a thing to mar the agreeable impressions of the trip through the State. The visitors were gratified not alone by their reception the hands of Gov. Pardee's party, but by the attention, consideration and courtesies of the Southern Pacific, whose officials on board devoted their entire time and care to the welfare and comfort of the visitors. The Californians as well, expressed their appreciation of the kindness of the railroad in furnishing them the special train from San Francisco which permitted them to meet the distinguished delegation from the East.

The coming escort, as it dubbed itself, consisted of Gov. Pardee, Senator Frank Flint, James McLaughlin of Los Angeles, Congressman Julius Kahn of San Francisco, R. H. Ingram, general superintendent Southern Pacific, James Horburgh, Jr., assistant general passenger agent of the Southern Pacific; Harry Chandler of Los Angeles, Gen. W. S. ## GOSSIP OF THE THEATER.

"Tim" Frawley is coming back, and doubtless more than one ardent playgoer is wondering whether Mary Van Buren, "Our Mary," is coming with him.

Well, for the satisfaction of these, and others, it may be said that she is not. Miss Van Buren is now in England, resting after several seasons of the most arduous work.

It was Miss Van Buren who was the unfailing star of the Frawley company; sometimes Daniel T.'s memory would fail him, but the leading lady's memory encompassed the whole play.

And now she is taking a well-earned vacation, which will probably continue for some time.

Frawley is coming without her; he must be lonesome, poor thing.

Frawley is a big Elk, and among a number of the local members there has been considerable unofficial talk of having a recognized Elk's night during his stay here.

Tim has been attempting various theatrical stunts since his return to the land of Stars and Stripes and greenbacks.

raising their hands. A perfect forest of arms sprang up as by magic and waved to and fro in token of all good wishes.

At Emmanuel Presbyterian Church, the commencement day for forty little ones who graduated from the primary into the intermediate grade, and thirty-seven who passed from the intermediate into the senior grade. A feature of the exercises was the oral examination of the small graduates who grouped upon the platform, stood up before a congregation that filled both the lower floor and upper galleries, and answered a string of questions on Bible history that it is safe to wager many an adult would stumble on. The little graduates from the primary department recited the books of the Bible properly classified, named the twelve disciples, outlined the life of Christ from His birth to His death and ascension, recited Psalms and wound up with a scripture catechism. After this the intermediate class occupied the platform and answered a series of questions that traced the wanderings of the children of Israel from Moses to the destruction of Jerusalem, recited the Beatitudes, the ten commandments, and the catechism, concluding with twenty promises given in God's word, covering all things whatsoever of which man hath need.

At the conclusion of the examination, the graduates, tied with gay ribbons, were presented to the graduates by the pastor, Rev. Hugh K. Walker, the children of the primary class receiving also a beautiful Bible each and those of the intermediate a book of Bible stories.

The exercises were sung by each class, the little ones forming themselves into a quartette group on the platform and singing a charming little Sunshiny Song, while the older ones sang to graduate into the senior grade sang "Glory to God: Peace on the Earth," set to the latest measures of Lohengrin's "Wedding March," and led by their superintendent, Mrs. Sidney Guest. The playing by the Sunday-school orchestra was a fine feature of the musical part of the programme.

There are a thousand members of Emmanuel Sunday-school, its superintendent, Mr. W. E. McVay, being one of the progressive men of the church. At Memorial Baptist Church on Grand avenue, near Twenty-third Street, Children's Day was observed with an elaborate programme of songs and recitations, twelve graduating from the primary into the intermediate grade and receiving diplomas and Bibles from their superintendent, Miss Bertha Brooks. The feature of the service here was "The Arch of Fame," an emblematic piece presented by the Morning Star class which was organized several years ago by the pastor, Rev. C. C. Pierce, but is now in charge of Miss Elizabeth Meyer.

The services at the First Methodist Church took place last evening when a class of over sixty graduated from the primary into the intermediate grade. The entire lower floor of the church was reserved for members of the Sunday-school and the upper galleries and adjoining class-rooms were packed with spectators. This school is the largest Sunday-school on the coast and the third largest Methodist school in the world, its May enrollment having reached the stupendous number of 2461. There are 1571 enrolled in the morning school and 539 in the home department, which is made up of people belonging to the church who have pledged themselves to study the Sunday-school lesson at least half an hour each week. Then there is the Cradle Roll—most bewitching of all, with its

His charming cherubs who can scarcely toddle. It is interesting history to recall that this great Sunday-school had its beginning in March, 1843, in the old courthouse which stood on the site now occupied by the Bullard Block, and its first enrollment numbered exactly twenty souls, including the officers and teachers.

Five years ago this school originated the custom of graduating its classes in the John Wesley cap and gown, the garb being a perfect duplicate of that worn by the famous founder of Methodism when he was at Oxford. It was pretty sight—the platform daintily decorated in pink and white—fragrant sweet peas, stately lilies and bright Japanese cherry blooms making a fitting background for the little human blossoms clad in their sober and colorful gowns with picturesque caps perched on their restless little heads. The children recited and sang and the diplomas were presented by the superintendent, Dr. H. W. Brodbeck.

At the Washington Street United Presbyterian Church the 11 o'clock service was given over to the children of the Sunday-school. After morning worship, conducted by the pastor, Rev. Henry W. Crabbe, a beautiful exercise, arranged by the primary superintendent, having for its central thought, "Others," or the "Unselfish life" was presented in story and song.

The people of Los Angeles can now buy bank stock at only $5 per share. No one will be allowed to purchase more than $500 of stock. Capital is to be increased to $500,000, making bank of a thousand small stockholders, thereby becoming the backbone of Los Angeles. The Consolidated Bank of Los Angeles has decided to place its stock with the people, believing that for securing a thousand stockholders it will acquire a thousand depositors at the same time. Investors can purchase bank stock with absolute safety as to perfect security, and realize a handsome profit therefrom, as has been done by the owners of stock in the various other banks of Los Angeles. This is the only opportunity ever offered the general public to buy bank stock in Los Angeles. As the bank stock is to be sold at $5 per share, we would rather have 500 stockholders of $5 each than 100 of $50 each. We want the greatest number of stockholders, as the more stockholders there are the stronger the bank. All stock fully paid up at Five Dollars per share. Purchaser may pay in 100 shares at $5 per share, but no one can buy more than $500 of stock. Subscription books just opened. Purchaser can subscribe for 100 shares and pay same in monthly payments of Five Dollars, and receive one share of paid-up stock as each $5 payment is made.
